THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(Frank Paper, 1908.)

November 19—Angelo Mont was found guilty of manslaughter, convicted of killing the Castans brothers at Lile, and was sentenced to a term of fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Charles Burrows, one of Frank's well known miners, had a startlingly narrow escape from probable fatal injury while at work in the mine last Saturday. He was driving a crosscut over a room in which the coal was broken. While he was standing on top of it, it began to run. He had no time to get away and was drawn down and buried by the coal. Realizing his desperate situation, he fought for life and kept crawling up as the coal ran down, and succeeded in keeping close enough to the surface to be able to breathe, until finally the coal ceased to run and he managed to get out.

D. N. Drain, of Blairmore, has sold his livery business to Frank W. Phillips, of Hillcrest.

ALBERTA HOTEL

CHANGES HANDS

We understand that the Alberta hotel rooming house has changed hands, a lease of the premises having been secured by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stewart, who contemplate giving the rooms and contents a thorough overhauling and making them second to none in the district. The Alberta rooms are modernly equipped, large and airy, and the house is conveniently located near the depot in the centre of town and on the main highway. Anyone desiring first-class room accommodation at moderate rates will do well to consult the Alberta. Special rates to monthly guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart have already taken possession.

Some excitement was caused on Monday evening, when a report became circulated that some individual had taken a "pot-shot" at Mrs. Tony Rota, residing in East Blairmore. The police gathered and after an investigation decided that the shot that touched Mrs. Rota after having spent its flight was from a 22-calibre gun in the hands of some boys a considerable distance away and had hit some obstacle, causing it to glance in the direction of the woman. The woman was at the time standing on a back verandah with a child in her arms and became very much excited at what she believed was an attempt at murder on the part of two individuals she had noticed running away to hide.

One of the "John Johnsons" gave himself up to the police at Sydney, stating that he would rather be a penitentiary inmate at St. John's, New foundland, than a free man in Nova Scotia.

This mill and elevator will be equipped with the latest up-to-date machinery and will manufacture flour for local consumption and for a large community in British Columbia—Vancouver Sun.

Inspector Bevan was up from Lethbridge on Tuesday, looking over the Pass detachments of the A. P. P.

Mrs. L. Dutil left last week on a visit to points in Eastern Canada and will be away some weeks.

Five children of Thomas Houle, of St. Neophros, Quebec, were drowned in a well when the temporary cover on which they were standing tilted and plunged them into the water. The children ranged in age from two to six years.

The bar of the Union hotel at Hillcrest was raided by the A. P. P. last week end, and some beer believed to be overstrength was taken therefrom. Following conviction under the liquor act, the license was removed and the bar was ordered closed.

"I didn't have time last night to tell him," Dorothy interposed.

"A number of my boys got into a shooting affray with some herders," Crowbridge explained. "Two of the boys were hurt and one of the herders, I understand."

"Too bad," Wade commented. "Confound it, Lew, what are these fellows thinking of? They must know that our patience won't last always, and when it breaks we're not to their own."

"Well"—Crowbridge deftly flicked his cigarette stub over the porch rails—"I'm through now, Gordon. I've given my men orders to stand by for no more nonsense. I've told them to shoot at the drop of the hat, and I'll stand behind me, law or no law. The next time there's a shooting, and I'm likely to come any longer, I'm going to lead my outfit into a fight that'll be some sight, believe me. And I'm not going to quit until I've given more to the country is headed East on the run."

"We'll be with you," Wade said heartily. "Tip us the word and we'll be right after you."

"I'll take you up on that, Gordon. Not that we need help, you understand, but because I'll be best for us to present a united front in this business. United, we stand; divided, we fall; that's the word, eh?"

Dorothy leaned forward, with an anxious look.

"Oh," she exclaimed. "I hope neither one of you will get shot."

"Crowbridge made her a bow from his chair."

"We'll try not to," he said mockingly, and she was obliged to join in the general laugh.

"If you feel that you ought to do it, of course, you will—right, I mean," she said, hesitatingly. "But I think it's dreadful, all the same."

"What has Thomas done about me?" Wade asked.

"He's holding quite a bunch of warrants up to his sleeve."

"I don't think he'd dare anything, and I don't believe he's anxious to," Crowbridge answered. "He's shown some courage, that fellow, in the past, but I always thought he had a yellow streak in him somewhere. I don't think you need fear him much."

"Well, I'm glad to know that, but we'd better keep a pretty close lookout here, and it's doubtful if I'm very comfortable. I want to go out to your claim this afternoon, and but for what you've said, I know Bill would insist on going alone. Now I can leave him here to attend to his work."

Dorothy was surprised. The line and she said so, but her opinion was overruled by the two men.

"Crowbridge decided that there was absolutely nothing to fear from Sheriff Thomas, at least immediately."

"I'm positive of that," he summed up. "If there were any more men on foot, I'd have heard of it."

"That may be," Dorothy argued. "But you know Senator Russell is behind him to keep him in."

"That's another thing we ought to run out of this neighborhood," Crowbridge declared. "The only trouble is that the old fox likes to see how that we haven't anything to do with him. We can suspect all we like, but he's a cunning, right down to earth, he is."

River Desert, Que.—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I was unable to walk, bend, and could not stand for any length of time to do my ironing or washing, but I would have to be down to get rest from the pain. I had this for about two years, then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and she said it had good results. I certainly got good results from it, for the last time I had a severe pain last May and I have not had it since. I am also glad of having good results from my health, and I think I feel my medicine that helped me in this way."—Mrs. L. V. Budge, River Desert, Que.

If you are suffering from the torture of a displacement, irregularities, headache, indigestion, or any other ailment in the side, you should lose no time in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

to growling. We can't prove a thing against her, but we'll have to stand without powder. Well, we'd better be off."

"She's right," Wade agreed. "It's early yet. I didn't mean to hurry you when I spoke of going out to the claim. I've got plenty of time."

"I haven't said him about the gold," Dorothy whispered, as he helped her into her saddle. "I thought you might want to keep it quiet for the present."

"Well, we'll talk him," he said, pressing her hand. "We'll all on the same side in this business."

He explained his good fortune to Crowbridge, who was delighted and enthusiastic over the prospect of the new lighthouse upon his own range.

"Well, that is some luck, eh?" Crowbridge skillfully managed his horse, which was high-spirited enough to still be spitting in spite of the long ride of the morning. "Every cloud's got a silver lining, as the poet says. And another thing, it shows Russell's real motive. Don't forget that. Oh, well, get on by and by. Sure thing, we'll be on in a long."

"So long, Lew!" Call on us when you want us."

"Good-bye!" Dorothy waved to him as the horses sped away in the direction of Crowwing Water.

Wade turned at the right, and then entered the house to tell Stanley that he would not be needed on the afternoon trip to the claim.

"The old man growled a little at the idea of Wade going alone, but he said, 'Well, it's his own business, and I'll take my gun and keep my eye peeled,' his employee promised."

"I can stand to stay in the house, or you can get to me, I'll be sure you get your work done. I'll be sure you get your work done. I'll be sure you get your work done."

"I'll be sure you get your work done. I'll be sure you get your work done. I'll be sure you get your work done."

speeches. It won't do any harm. Besides, the worst of it is that we have already discovered one. I'd rather read a good descriptive story than see some one else's. I don't think that you had one yet that was."

"That's the best I can do with it," he laughed. "It's always like that. Haven't you noticed how society ever says 'society' to the editor? It's called that if he's only gone in for something else he'd have been a talking machine at it. But to show you, I've got a hand over at the ranch, a fellow named Saxe, who can do the down a speech, and he's a good one. I'll be sure it's a hard copy. I'll be sure it's a hard copy. I'll be sure it's a hard copy."

"Doesn't he?" she asked. "That's his story? At night he gets out a book and reads Hamlet to the rest of the house. I think that if he'd ever hit Broadway with a story, he'd be in the town on fire."

Four Guard Flag at Top of World

Members of Stefansson's Expedition

Sail On Wrangell Island

Four lonely Canadians, marooned on Wrangell Island, at the top of the map, have been waiting since 1921 to be rescued by a ship from the north.

The four are the members of a landing party led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, on his visit to the island several years ago. While the former members of his expedition possess their own papers and maps, and a small seal, for a living, Stefansson is negotiating with the Canadian Government to reimburse him for the expense of his polar voyage, and accept sovereignty over Wrangell Island in payment.

When members of the Stefansson party raised the Canadian flag on Wrangell Island, in 1921, there was some discussion as to the propriety of planting the flag on the island, which was then in the hands of a native, and a seal, for a living, Stefansson is negotiating with the Canadian Government to reimburse him for the expense of his polar voyage, and accept sovereignty over Wrangell Island in payment.

"He's right," she begged. "There can't be anything here."

"But," she said, "I'm sure it's a hard copy. I'll be sure it's a hard copy. I'll be sure it's a hard copy."

Queer African Hats

Designs Worked on Moist Clay

Identify Owners

The native of Kilri-Massa, on the west coast of Africa, builds his home of a stiff clay much like the shale used by Mexicans and Indians. This is poured over a framework of slender wooden poles used as reinforcements, and allowed to dry in the sun. The design is worked on with a crude trowel-like tool while the mud is moist.

The houses look like huge ant-hills, with only an inadequate opening for a door in the side and a small round chimney hole at the top to admit light and air. The design on the outside is often elaborate and worked out with the greatest pains, for it serves to identify the owner of the hut, and is virtually "copyrighted" by him.

Claims Discovery of Ancient City

Mexican Mining Engineers Say Ruins Are 4,000 Years Old

While searching for natural cement beds at the foot of Mount Colima, Mexico, James P. Thompson, a mining engineer, unearthed ruins of a 4,000-year-old city, according to a statement made by him. Pretending from the layers of lava, beneath which is the city, Mr. Thompson declares is the top of an ancient pyramid. He also discovered strange steatite, a few precious stones, stone tools and several beautifully carved wooden idols. The Mexican Government will send scientists to investigate.

SUFFERED SO FROM HEART AND NERVES LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Mr. A. H. Lee, Beaumont, Ont., writes: "I am delighted to let you know what I have to say regarding the good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did me."

A short time ago I suffered with heart and nerve trouble, and was so bad I could not sleep, only about two hours each night. My heart was so bad I had spells when driving on the road and would faint away, and neighbors would carry me in from my wagon. I also took these pills in the night and during my daily work on the farm. My nerves were so bad I would jump out of bed, and was then compelled to walk the floor before I could settle down again, but after taking a few boxes of

Pain in the Muscles, Stiffness in Joints, Quickly Subdued by Nervine

Those who have tested out numerous liniments will agree that where something is to be done, Nervine is the best. It is more of a muscle relaxant than a pain killer. It penetrates so deeply, because of its alcohol base, that it reaches the ordinary oil preparation. It has come to be known as the "Nervine" for rheumatic conditions, muscular and joint stiffness. Nervine works wonders. A liniment proves this. Get a 25-cent bottle from your druggist today.

Liquid Fuel

Oil Being Successfully Used in English Glass Manufacturing

For a long time liquid fuel was employed only for steam production, but an indication of the wide application that it may have in many forms of industry is afforded by the experience of the owners of a large glass manufacturing plant at South Hackney, in England.

The experiments there were begun more than ten years ago, and after overcoming many difficulties a special form of burner was evolved which appears to be entirely satisfactory. Four to five thousand gallons of oil are burned every week, with perfect combustion and a total absence of smoke, and the temperature obtained ranges from 2,500 to 2,800 degrees Fahrenheit, which is the temperature required for melting crucible steel.

Where Does Responsibility Rest?

More Care Should Be Taken in Issuing Motor Licenses

In Philadelphia an automobile got on the sidewalk and killed a young woman. When the driver was arrested it was found that he was a paralytic, utterly helpless as to one leg and partially so as to one arm. It was further disclosed that he had been thus crippled from childhood. Yet the state of Pennsylvania had issued him a license to drive an automobile. On his trial his infirmities were pleaded in his behalf, but he was sentenced to imprisonment for from four to six years. "The case raises the question," properly comments the New York Herald, "as to whether the responsibility for this fatality was exclusively that of the partially-crippled driver or whether some share of it should not fall upon those who created the conditions which permitted the issuance of a license to one in his condition."—Buffalo Express.

PAIN AFTER EATING

Proof That the Stomach is Weak and Needs Toning Up

Generally speaking, a person in good health can digest most foods. If not, and there is pain after eating, the stomach has lost tone and is too weak to do its work. In that case your stomach needs strengthening and the way to do this is to build up the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There cannot be good digestion without a sufficient supply of good red blood, and there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to renew and enrich the blood. That is why they have proved so successful in thousands of cases of indigestion.

Mr. D. J. Shaw, Seattle, P.E.I., has paid the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a severe case of indigestion and related the experience for the benefit of other sufferers. He says:—"I suffered from indigestion for a number of years. My case was so bad that words fail to describe it. My appetite was gone, constipation was present, and my nerves were all in a row. I could not sleep well at night, and the world was a dark spot to me. I tried a number of remedies, but with out any benefit. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, but without much faith, as after so many failures, I decided to try them. After taking three boxes I noticed a change for the better. Then I got three more boxes, and found I had a genuine remedy. I continued the treatment, took moderate exercise, could take good plain food, without suffering as formerly, and proved that these pills make good blood, and that good blood will restore the stomach and nerves. Anyone suffering from stomach or nerve trouble will make no mistake in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Quaint Institution in London

Church for Deaf and Dumb Soon to be Closed

One of London's quaintest institutions, the deaf and dumb church of St. Saviour's, is soon to disappear. So far as known, it is the only church in the world devoted exclusively to worship by the deaf, dumb and the blind. The increased real estate value of the site upon which this unique institution is built has made it necessary to close its doors, but it is hoped to re-establish it in a more modest part of London.

The foundation for the modest church was laid by the late King Edward in 1870, and it became familiar to the hundreds of thousands of Britons who pass along one of the busiest and noisiest thoroughfares of the capital. Yet it is doubtful if a lithe of those passers-by even thought to step inside to witness one of the deaf and dumb services.

Great Britain is one of the most advanced nations in the care and education of its deaf and dumb. Recognizing the truth of Dr. Samuel Johnson's statement that of all physical deprivation, the deaf and dumb is "the most desperate of human calamities," the state now provides for the whole of the educational needs of this afflicted class of the population up to the age of 16 and gives them assistance in after years.

Useful in Camp—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the Oil and the result will be that the feet will be warm, muscles, and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

It is one of the world's most potent remedies for sore throat, lumbago and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Cost Of Living

The same foods, in April a year ago cost $10.36, compared with $7.41 in April, 1914, and $16.92 in June, 1920.

ON SUBSTITUTES

The pest of the business world is the substitute.

A man spends many years and much money developing a product and when he has created a demand for it, along come the rascals with substitutes and undersell.

But merchants need not complain. The whole business of life is vitiated by substitutes.

Religion is undoubtedly a good thing, for the object of religion is to cause sin to cease. But the greatest enemy of religion is the substitute or false religion, which compounds with sins and shows us the way to go on with them and yet appease our conscience.

Education is valuable, for education is the training of our native faculties. But its greatest foe is substitute education, which consists of stuffing the mind with useless knowledge and cramming our natural abilities into conventional shapes.

Organization is one of the means for getting things done. But the average organization is a substitute for doing anything. When a group of people feel the call of duty in any direction, civic, moral or charitable, they meet, make speeches, elect officers, select committees and go home with a sense of having discharged their responsibility.

Government is a good thing, and it ought to consist in serving the people. But most governments are composed of those who do not serve the people, but live as parasites upon them.

Love is the greatest thing in the world and develops all that is best in us. But the substitute for love, including lust and a desire to be flattered, are life's poison and not life's food.

Joy is a good thing, but the empty pleasures of self indulgence, the mere relaxation of diversion and the septic delight of cruelty, which are but substitutes for joy, are like the crackling of thorns under the pot.

Aristocracy is a good thing, for it means the ascendancy of the superior virtues. But what is commonly called aristocracy is but a miserable substitute and snobbery.

Independence is a good thing. But self-will and stubbornness, which are its substitutes, are a bad thing.

In fact, the principal effort of the devil is not devoted to a frontal attack upon the things that make life good and beautiful, but rather to an effort to induce us to adopt cheap and dangerous substitutes.

FIRST WOMAN GRADUATE IN AGRICULTURE

The first woman graduate in agriculture from the University of Alberta was given her degree this week. She is Miss Sheila Marryat, sister of Hon. Mrs. Parley, minister without portfolio in the Alberta Government, and lives at Alix. For two years Miss Marryat was a student at Olds Agricultural School, and previously had taken a short course at Guelph. She has just completed a three year course at Alberta University.

THE HIGH COST OF DYING

Minor fees for filing, possibly	10.00
Total	$18,923.50

It costs more to die than to be born, to go out of the world than to come into it. Is it any wonder that people on this continent are working their brains overtime to find a way to "simplify" the law and legal machinery?

Abraham Martin Honored

Monument to First Scottish Settler, First King's Pilot On the St. Lawrence, and First Farmer On the Plains of Abraham Cavelled.

At Quebec recently the Hon. Athanasius David, Provincial Secretary in the Quebec Cabinet, officiated at the unveiling of a monument erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in memory of Abraham Martin, who was the first known Canadian of Scottish descent and the first King's pilot on the St. Lawrence River. The Plains of Abraham received their name from him; he received a grant of the land from Champlain in 1617. The unveiling of the monument, a handsome granite shaft seven feet high surmounted by a globe supported by thistles, was an important event and was attended by a large number of prominent citizens and political representatives.

The sturdy pioneer is further acclaimed by Andrew Patterson, who says:—

Bobbed hair is very convenient. The girl does not have to take so much care of her hair, and you do not have to take so much care of the girl.

Everything comes to him who waits. But here is something quicker: The man who goes after what he wants Gets it a darn sight quicker.

ABRAHAM MARTIN. Auld Scotland many a hero boasts From John o' Groat's to William's coasts. Both Lowland lads and Highland hosts That wear the tartan; But now another seeks your toasts, Old Abraham Martin.

But what pretence has he to fame, That we should celebrate his name, And thip in stone and bronze proclaim To all his glory.

His style and story? A threefold plea can Martin claim To all his glory. The first of Scotia's sons was he To cross At'm's le stormy sea— True pioneers of liberty, Claiming their best.

That this Dominion fair might be Blessing and blest. See in his wake the glorious band, Mackenzies, Fyness, forest stand, MacDonalds; too, in high command, And James McGill, Outspoken and Sixth-tona grand— 'Twould pages fill.

The first was he to till this plain, Now sacred to that fierca campaign When heroes fell, but not in vain In glorious strife, O Canada, thine was the rain, Lendued thy life!

He was the first to mark the tides, The rocks, the shoals St. Lawrence hides— The martinet in him confides And wins his fears; "The ship," he cries, "in safety rides When Martin steers."

Though fate among strangers cast his lot, He ne'er forgot he was a Scot, Thriftily and shrewd he was, I wot, His shaft seven feet high surmounted by a globe supported by thistles, was an important event and was attended by a large number of prominent citizens and political representatives.

Let us whatever our race or creed, This ancient Scot's example heed, And give the best that's in our breed That ours may be A Canada in ward and deed— High-souled and free.

—A. Patterson.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Taking into consideration the experience of British Columbia and Quebec, together with the views of some of the best minds of the Dominion, and also the fact that the present Prohibition Act has been a miserable failure, in that it has failed to prohibit, and that it is not supported by public opinion, we have come to the conclusion that Clause D of the Ballot will be to the best advantage of the country. Provided, of course, that it is accompanied by sane regulations. It will not be necessary to follow either British Columbia or Quebec, but rather select the best points in both. By government control and reasonable regulations, the Provincial Treasurer should receive at least two million dollars that now goes to the pockets of bootleggers.

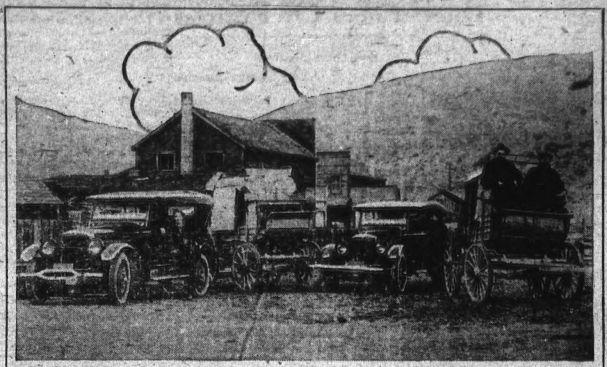

Sane provisions allowing the sale of good beer will provide a market for two million bushels of malt barley. Malt barley is worth $1.10 per bushel in Montreal and there is no reason why it should not be of the same value in Alberta. It has been proved that rye is the most successful crop in Southern Alberta. The establishment of a distillery in Lethbridge under government control or supervision, would provide a ready market for a large quantity of rye and the amount paid for freight from Ontario would be saved. The Prime Minister of Canada, himself an abstainer, has put himself on record as being opposed to prohibition. In Great Britain prohibition is being treated as a joke. In the British House of Commons, if we remember right, only about fourteen out of a membership of over 600, voted for prohibition. The British Empire has been built up and has achieved her greatness by sane regulations, properly enforced of the question. Ministers of the Gospel in Scotland have declared prohibition to be worse than Bolshevism. It is not taught in the Bible; it was not taught by Christ—Lethbridge Advocate.

John M. Egan, aged seventy-five, for fifty years a railroad man, dropped dead at Dixon, Ill., on May the 9th. Egan, as general superintendent of the western division of the C. P. R., built the road from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast. He also built the Great Northern from Minot, N. D., to Helena, Montana, and was connected with many other roads.

"Ted" Royle, the genial superintendent of Mine Rescue Car No. 1, was seen meandering through Blairmore the early part of the week in a new Oldsmobile. We congratulate Teddy on his elevation.

Last Symbol of Frontier Passes Into History

The old-time stagecoaches, used for years over the historic Cariboo Trail in British Columbia, were recently replaced by Studebaker cars. These cars now make the 220-mile trip north, from Ashcroft, to Kamloops, in about a quarter of the time required by the horse-drawn coaches, and the fare is only one-fourth of what it was when the passengers depended upon old Dobbin.

The last symbol of frontier life passes into history. Progress discards the picturesque old stage coach for the modern motor car. A famous Indian route in British Columbia—the Cariboo Trail—first used by white men in the 60's, is now travelled weekly by autos.

Carrying passenger, baggage and express, the cars start from Ashcroft—a point 200 miles northeast of Vancouver—and run straight north to Kamloops. This is the route of the Cariboo Trail, which winds over steep, towering mountains in the range of the Canadian Rockies. It is a difficult road at best, and has always been almost impassable in bad weather. The distance from Ashcroft to Kamloops is 220 miles.

The trip by stagecoach was long and dangerous and required three and one-half days, whereas the distance is now covered by motor car in a single day at a cost to the passenger of only twenty-five per cent of the fare charged by the stagecoach.

Studebaker Special Sixes are also used as motor stages between Ashcroft, Williams Lake and Cedar Creek, B. C. It was at the latter point that a gold strike was made last year. The run to Cedar Creek is 150 miles east of Ashcroft, over a very treacherous road—hardly a road at all. Regardless of the very difficult travel conditions—sharp inclines, dangerous descents from mountains—these cars have proved dependable and faithful to their task.

More Hebrideans Canada Bound

THE Hebrideans are a home loving race of people not much given to wandering from their native haunts, but the arrival at St. John's of the Canadian Pacific's steamship Marjoe and Margaret of over six hundred sturdy men and women of the western Isles, forced by necessity to seek their fortunes in the land of promise is not without precedent. In the year 1874 a contingent of 111 was brought from the Isle of Mull by Lord Selkirk to develop the sheep industry in St. Clair, Kent County. It has since been hard when three people left home and were far well to loved ones on the Meigraia. fate was not more kind to them after they had settled here. Forty-five of their number were carried off by fever in the first year and the war of 1812 wiped out the settlement, homes, stock and crops.

In 1812 Lord Selkirk's agent, Colin Robinson, of the Isle of Lewis, persuaded a number of his fellow islanders to whom the abolition of the Clan system had brought ruin and misery, to settle in the Red River district. This party encountered the hostilities of the Indians and through their industry and perseverance, the jealousy of the white traders, when the settlement was wiped out on one occasion and many of them died of disease, the remainder were forced to leave. However, they returned in time to harvest the first western wheat crop and many attribute to this fact that Winnipeg stands where it does to day.

Life will not be a bed of roses for those who have newly arrived and they will have to work and hard; but this they can do. They are the descendants of the "lords of the Isles" who by strength of arms repulsed the invasions of the Scandinavians and Scots. Social and industrial development was retarded to a great extent by the clan system, but those who have adopted Canada are well educated and a simple life of toil in adversity through generations has given them a splendid physique and simple dignity. Although forced by hard times to leave their homes to make new ones, most of them are in sufficient funds and not a few families aboard the Montclair were possessed of over $1,000. Some have stopped in Ontario but the larger proportion of them have gone to Red Deer, Alberta, where they will form a small colony.

MENTAL HOSPITAL TO OPEN NEXT FALL

The opening of the mental hospital at Oliver, now nearing completion, will be postponed until next fall, as a measure of economy. It is planned to remove the mental patients at Red Deer hospital to the new wing now completed at Ponoka, where they will be cared for until the new Oliver home is opened. This arrangement will effect a considerable economy. The Red Deer home is to be used for mental defectives.

ALBERTA UNIVERSITY CONVOCATION

Convocation at Alberta University took place the past week when graduates were given their degrees. A total of 118 degrees were conferred and 14 diplomas presented, the graduating class being the largest in the history of the University. The enrolment during the term was 1314 students. The convocation address was delivered by Dr. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Observatory at Victoria, B. C.

ATTRACTING TOURISTS AND SETTLERS

Alberta will be officially represented during the next two weeks, on the tour that is being made of the larger centres on the international highway through the Western States, by Colin G. Groff, provincial publicity commissioner. This tour is for the purpose of bringing attention to the Alberta loop of the international highway, with the object of attracting to the province a large proportion of the immense tourist traffic class being the largest in the history of the University. This highway has for its southern bases the grand canyon and Los Angeles, with Edmonton, Calgary and Banff as its northern bases. The opening of the new Banff-Windermere road this summer makes it possible for tourists to make the complete 4000 mile circle by auto. During the trip a great deal of publicity material on the province in general will be distributed, since the States to be visited are also fertile fields for good settlers, particularly for the irrigated sections.

Ross Snyder, of Snyder & Co., Calgary, who have the heating and plumbing contract in connection with the new courthouse, arrived in town last week to start the work of installation.

Successful Cultivation Of Variety Of Small Fruits By Farmers Of Prairies

Compared with 1921, the year 1922 at the Modern Station, Manitoba, saw an increase of two hundred per cent. in the number of letters received, which made enquiry as to culture of fruits, says W. R. Leslie, Superintendent of the Experimental Station. There is a decided tendency for farmers and others, on the prairies, to think about being more self-dependent in regard to foodstuffs and a pleasing tendency towards the improving of their home surroundings. In the light of the experiences at the different Prairie experimental stations in growing fruits, it is evident that fruit plantations may successfully be established and maintained. Because of present economic conditions, and in the welfare of housewives, the establishment of home fruit plantations may well be generally encouraged.

Any good wheat soil is suitable for most of the commercial hardy fruits. The soil is to be well worked; corn, barley, clover, alfalfa, and alfalfa, and is to have good natural drainage. If there are several exposures available, choose the northerly or north-easterly slope.

The next considerations are a substantial windbreak and selection of hardy varieties.

It is not necessary to delay setting out the fruits until the shelter develops. But the shelter belt should be planted, at the latest, the same year the fruit bushes, trees, etc., are set out. As shelter belts are cut from the winds in summer, and to serve as a snow trap in winter, two or more rows of sunflowers may be planted about the fruit garden area. The sunflowers may be supported with a couple of rows of hemp. Hemp stands up through the winter and tends to grow taller than the sunflowers. The sunflowers are to be decapitated as soon as flower heads form, otherwise they will probably blow over. When the heads are cut off the stalks stand up and most of them remain standing the following spring. The hemp is allowed to develop uninterrupted by any pruning. Hemp seed is sometimes difficult to secure and good results are more likely from home-grown seed, as the seed rapidly loses its vitality.

The permanent shelter belt may well include a closely planted hedge of caragana. For further advice in regard to the cultivation of the shelter, the recommendation is that enquiry be made to the chief of tree planting division, Dominion Forestry Station, Indian Head, Sask., or to your nearest experimental station or agricultural college.

Best results are secured from a shelter belt which extends on all four sides of the fruit area. On the north and west have the windbreak sufficiently removed so that space is allowed for snow drifts to accumulate. If the shelter is immediately against the fruit trees, grievous losses may be expected from crushing by snow.

Select those suited to your conditions. It is well to make direct enquiry of your nearest experimental station, as there are a number of different climatic zones on the prairies.

By way of general suggestion, set out raspberries, currants and plums. There are varieties of each of these types that are hardier than is necessary for success in any normal year. Black currants are not so hardy as some red currants, but there are a number of varieties of sufficient hardiness.

Strawberries are worthy of continuous trial. The supply of moisture in May and June is apparently the chief limiting factor.

Crab apples may well be attempted in localities and large areas are already successfully grown in Southern Manitoba and to a lesser degree at Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

Plums are the most attractive prospect in tree fruits. There are improved native varieties for the north, and there are very excellent varieties, some of which carry a large proportion of Japanese plum character, in their constitution, for the south. Sand cherry hybrids, grown in bush form, are a valuable possession.

Further Irrigation Plans

Farmers in the district of Raymond and Magrath are forming an irrigation district to bring 60,000 acres under irrigation. They will apply to the government for enabling legislation, and for the guaranteeing of the bonds of the district. Work on the Redhead Northern Irrigation district is rapidly nearing completion, and it is expected that water will be turned into some of the ditches this year.

It is 32,000 miles from England to Australia.

Rare Bird Secured For Chicago Museum

Hunters of Amazonian Country Call It "Least Soul"

John Zimmer, Assistant Curator of the Field Museum, Chicago, who arrived by the Booth liner Panama from a year's search along the Amazon, has secured a specimen of a new bird which he says the wild head hunters of the Amazonian country call "alma peridita," or "lost soul."

Mr. Zimmer said it was a "wall that combines the wildness of the hares with the blood-curdling qualities of the war cry of the American Indian." A head hunter's legend, Mr. Zimmer said, has it that the bird learned its "funeral shriek" from three small children abandoned by their stepmother in the jungle.

Mr. Zimmer spent thirty-five nights, according to the story, that arrived with the dead bird, hunting for the "lost soul" and finally saw it "all-thought against the moon" and brought it down with a shot. It is notified gray and resembles the wain-poor-will, but is a little larger.

Among the other treasures he will take to Chicago is a fly called the "white shawl" because that is what it resembles.

Dual Shorthorns in Manitoba

Foundation of Herd Imported From England Twenty Years Ago

Special attention is paid at the Brandon, Manitoba, Experimental Farm, to the dual Shorthorn, and as a great many farmers in the province are taking to the strain, it is found impossible to supply the demand for good bull calves. The superintendent of the farm, in his report of the work accomplished in 1922, says that the foundation of the herd, which is now fully accredited, was a small importation from England twenty years ago, and that the herd was transferred from Ottawa twelve years ago. Since then, the milk producing ability of the herd has been developed and uniformity of type greatly improved. Bulls of good milk producing ancestry, in themselves good individuals, both in regard to beef type and milk production, are used. Poor females are rigidly culled. At present the herd numbers seventy animals of excellent quality.

Famous Amusement Place Closed

Business Places Will Occupy Site of Great Hippodrome

The New York Hippodrome has given up the show. Modern business wants the site where over a period of 18 years 40,000,000 people witnessed the spectacles that increased in grandeur each season and so the curtain has gone down on the best known of New York theatrical production for the last time. Eighteen hundred people went out of work. Some of them were only new comers, but others had been with the giant playhouse since its first performance on April 12, 1905.

Okanagan Valley Fruit

Over two and a half million boxes of apples were shipped out of the Okanagan Valley in 1922, an increase of eighty thousand boxes over the previous year. In addition there was shipped in 1922, 251,850 boxes of crab apples; 36,254 boxes of pears; 111,066 crates of plums; 153,209 crates of apricots; 109,091 crates of cherries; 9,653 crates of raspberries; 9,135 crates of strawberries; other fruits, 12,471 crates.

Electricity From the Air

Apparatus Extracts Juice From Ozons to Light Houses

Joseph Desautels, a young Hungarian scientist, is only twenty-two years old, is reported to have invented an apparatus for extracting electric current from the air without the least expense. The chief feature of his device is a mass similar to those which are used for wireless telegraphy, and the electric energy gained from the air varies according to the height of the mast. He claims that he would be able to reach forty thousand volts at an altitude of nine hundred feet. The inventor has fitted several houses with his apparatus, supplying electric current for their lighting. It has been observed that the current is strongest at noon and weakest at about midnight.

Newsprint Shipped to U.S.

Canada Supplied U.S. With 88 Per Cent. of Total Importation

During the past year Canada supplied 88 per cent. of the total importation of newspaper into the United States, an increase of 5 per cent. as compared with the previous year. Shipments in 1922 amounted to $95,312 tons, as against $66,594 in the previous year. In addition to newspaper Canada supplies the United States with large quantities of pulp and wood, which amounts to several millions of dollars in value each year.

From a 19th Century Diary

It Near River village has changed its ancient name. In 1922, the village was changed to the name of the river, from which most many of the names of the surrounding country.

Although there are now good roads and up-to-date means of transportation through "The Land of Evangeline," it is interesting to read what Lt. Colonel Sleight, who rode in a coach with broken springs in 1852, thought of the country.

"We drove on to Kentville," he wrote, "and arrived there with a beautiful moon shining in unobscured splendor. The hotel was delightfully situated on the banks of the River Gaspeaux, a boiling, turbulent stream, which passed over a rocky bed with the confusion of falling waters, here and there adding music to the roar of falling water. What a spot for the angler; Trout and Gaspeaux in surprising abundance supply reward his labors."

"For the disciple of Isaac Walton, Nova Scotia is happily situated. The whole province is indented with lakes and rivers, rivaling each other in their placid beauty. It is computed that 2,000 square miles are occupied with lakes and streams, from the mountain torrent to the variable waters. The whole surface of the country is studded with small lakes; and not more than fifteen miles in any direction can be found without one of these romantic sheets of water. The Moose and Bear Rivers, the St. Croix and Kennebec, the Gaspeaux, La Have, Tusket, Shubenacadie and

Tuberculosis Association

Annual Meeting to be Held at Edmonton on June 12 and 13

The cost of operation for 1922 of the mothers' allowance scheme, now in operation in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario, has been announced by the Secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association here. The total is $2,855,026. Of this amount nearly seven per cent, went to 972 mothers and 2,547 children.

At the annual meeting of the association which is to be held in Edmonton, June 12 and 13, full consideration of the workings and results of these schemes will be taken up.

New Butter Regulations

Motion to Amend Dairy Industries Act Is Adopted

On the motion of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, the House adopted a resolution to amend the Dairy Industries Act, 1914, and to provide regulations regarding butter substitutes and the re-manufacture of butter, the character and weight of butter, the keeping of records by manufacturers or dealers in butter and cheese, and the examination of such records by inspectors. The regulations also provide for the methods of establishing the quality of persons charged with the violation of the act, and the procedure to be followed in all such cases.

Heavy Grain Production For Last Year On The Western Indian Reserves

A Day of Joy

Royalty Needed as the Bond of the Commonwealth

A Glasgow ballie—they call older ballies in Scotland, and in these radical days have some eccentric ones—took the occasion of the royal wedding to rail roundly at kings and the "great, insane, pompous monarchial system." The Lord Provost, or whoever was in the chair, gave it back to him in Gallowgate Scotch, and then the council broke up in confusion. Another communist unfurled a red flag in a London street, and the millions who were there to pay a natural homage to a national bride, the crowd was made up, according to nature, chiefly of women, which went ill for the red flag man, for the police could not get near him the flag and the women were both in the dust, the flag beyond repair. Shall we have royalty or shall we not? The answer, humanity wants that sort of thing, and is put to shifts where it has not got it. A flag is a poor substitute for a live royal family. Homage to royalty has, in England, survived centuries of very objectionable kings. It is in blossom today with a virtuous royal family utterly loyal to the people. Royalty is needed just now as the bond of the commonwealth. Theories are horses that run off with impracticable people. The British constitution is made up of venerable but useful fictions. The real ruler of the country was probably at the ceremonial that filled the heart and imagination of the nation. If his throat was well enough, but government went on undisturbed by the royal event. The divinity that still "doth hedge a King" not only sustains the British throne, but many thrones are looking to it for model and support in these days when the imperialism which recently adorned a number of monarchs to their fall has gone to grass at Dorn.—Montreal Witness.

Mirror Prevents Auto Accidents

Enables Driver to See Road Directly in Rear

Accidents on the highways could be greatly decreased by the passage of uniform state laws requiring every truck to carry a mirror, giving a view of the road immediately to the rear, and by requiring every horse-drawn vehicle, as well as automobile, to display some sort of light when using the roads at night. Motor trucks need mirrors for they travel at a slower rate of speed than passenger cars and the noise of the engine completely drowns out in many instances, the horn of the motorist behind who is blowing for the road. Often they will swerve at the time, the passenger car is about to pass and this means an accident. As for the light on a horse-drawn vehicle, the need for it is obvious. The motorist, coming up behind such a vehicle and perhaps blinded by the headlights of a car coming from the opposite direction, cannot see the horse-drawn vehicle until he is right on it.—Farm Life.

Florida Is Lowest State

Everglades Are Only Fifty Feet Above Sea Level

Florida, speaking physically, is the lowest state of the union. The geological survey has just completed a topographical investigation showing that the peninsula State's highest elevation, located in Polk County and known as "Iron Mountain," is only 325 feet above sea level. The widely known Everglades comprising an area of 150 miles long and about 100 miles broad, are at an average elevation of less than 50 feet above the sea, while the surface of the shallow lake within them, Okechee, is not quite 20 feet above the sea level.

Canada's Trade Increases

During the fiscal year ended March 31, Canada's total trade increased nearly a quarter of a billion dollars. The amount was $17,450,880, an increase over the previous year of $246,840,857.

The principal development was in exports, which increased during the year $191,988,763. Among Canada's domestic exports agricultural products ranked first with a value of $252,455,251. Next came wood, products and paper, valued at $255,768,265.

Farmers Are Buying

Search For David's Tomb

Sacred Sites Will Not Be Upset By Excavations

The recent announcement that excavations are to be made at Jerusalem in a search for David's tomb has aroused anxiety in some religious circles in London, where it was feared that the work would devastate sacred sites. The colonial office, however, has issued a re-assuring statement asserting that the actual location of the ancient City of David was not on the spot mentioned by tradition. Archaeologists hold the view that the statement says that the city stood on a little triangular square of ground called Mount Ophel, south of the present Jerusalem. It is on this site, which has heretofore been of no religious interest to Christians, Jews or Mohammedans, that the excavations in the search for David's tomb are to be made.

A Little Easier

In the house where mother does all her own work, it is commoner wise to have Tuesday for washday rather than the customary Monday. The house is always in disorder from Sunday, with so many things to put away and so much accumulated dust that it takes more time and Sunday to straighten it out. In the afternoon a cold supper could be prepared for Tuesday, and washday would not seem such a horror with the knowledge that the house is in order before one starts.

MODERN GOLF

By W. J. Frank Thompson

NOTED CANADIAN GOLFERS

THE AID OF PICTURES

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as others see us!"

So far as golf is concerned this hitherto insuperable difficulty has been overcome by the camera. It is possible now to have a moving picture taken of one's swing so that any section of it may be seen and studied.

The whole film can be thrown on the screen and, if need be, slowed up so that the movements can be seen in detail; or prints can be made and the swing studied at one's leisure. In this way each movement may be checked up in relation to the other movements that go to make up the composite swing, and defects discerned which are impossible to the unassisted eye. The cost of motion pictures is not prohibitive. I know of one player who apparently had excellent form, but who could not drive two hundred yards. This lack of length he overcame by having his swing filmed, which showed that at the moment of impact the weight was not on the left foot as it should be in the case of long drives. This was difficult to detect by the naked eye, but the cinema showed it up clearly. A score of prints of the swing at the vital sections can be made, and these can be compared with pictures of recognized stars of the game, so that the beginner can tell exactly at which point, if any, his swing goes wrong. The camera does not lie, no matter what the artists may do. It has no pet theory to support. Golf books, as a whole, have had to be largely rewritten because of data supplied by the camera.

Some interesting points have been brought out by the pictures. Heretofore the hands were supposed to start the back swing. The body was supposed to be inactive until the club got considerable distance in the back swing. If the hands started the back swing, the head of the club would immediately get ahead of the hand. But the converse is true; the head of the club, so to speak, remains on the tee and for a few inches is dragged by the arms. The swing is started by the body pivoting and the hands do not become active until somewhere about the middle of the back swing.

The pictures show a fuller body movement or pivot somewhere before the club has reached its furthest point in the back swing. The explanation of this is that after the body has completed its twist the momentum of the club carries the hands farther back.

The body actually starts reversing in the down swing before the club has reached its farthest point in the back swing. This is the reason why the back swing and forward swing blend so that no break appears. According to the old teaching the hands were supposed to start the down swing; this is contrary to the evidence of the pictures. The hands have nothing to do with the start of the down swing. The body reversing pulls the hips and shoulders around, and consequently the arms. The wrists and hands remain in the same bent position they occupied at the top of the swing until a few feet from the back swing, when they start reversing.

With all the long hitters in the down swing there appears to be a distinct sway towards the hole. The left hip seems to shoot in the direction of the flag, and if the left goes the right, of course, must follow. The body is not in the same position at impact as it occupied in the address, nor is the down swing the same as the up swing. The sway of the body is provided for by the fact that most of the long hitters address the ball slightly off the left heel.

The pictures show the waggles of most of the stars to be almost identical. The club is raised straight up from behind the ball and is slightly in the general direction of the hole.

It is then brought back several feet past the ball and is then placed behind the ball when the swing proper is commenced. The movements are, of course, made by the extension of the right wrist and the roll of the left forearm with the reverse movements.

During these movements the head is not kept fixed on the ball. During the forward movement the head looks at the hole and then is allowed to rest on the ball. If the head is not kept fixed on the ball throughout the waggle apparently aim is destroyed. This can be proven from practice.

On the down swing both knees seem to bend forward, which causes the body to dip. They straighten up, however, before the ball is struck. The body is certainly in a more upright position at the top of the swing than half-way in the down swing.

There are other interesting points which the pictures show. For the player who is badly off his game and can get no cure from his professional I would strongly recommend that his swing be filmed. By comparing it with other pictures faults may be detected and a cure for them suggested.

The difficulty most golfers meet is not being able to see their own swings. If this were possible many players could easily correct their own faults. A good example of the aid of pictures is the reported case of Miss Sterling, who detected a glaring fault while watching a picture of her swing, which drew from her the remark that she would "soon correct that" and which, doubtless, she was able to do.

It should be remembered that the eyes, although the most important factors in acquiring knowledge, are by no means infallible. The whole basis of legendry is founded on their limitations. But the camera, with its fast shutter speed, is extremely accurate, and, as someone says, never lies.

PRINTING THE TRUTH

It is not pleasant and profitable always to tell the truth in the columns of a newspaper. Men have tried this heretofore and have always come to grief. Only a few days ago the editor of a paper in Indiana grew tired of being called a liar and announced that he would tell the truth in future;

and the next issue of the paper contained the following items:

"John Bonin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Belleville yesterday."

"John Coyle, our groceryman, is doing a poor business. His store is dirty and dusty. Why should he do so much?"

"Rev. Styx preached last Sunday on "charity." The sermon was punk."

"Dave Sonkey died at his home in this place. The doctors gave it out as heart failure. Whiskey killed him."

"Margied—Miss Sylvan Rhodes and John Conlin, last Saturday, at the paragonage. The bride is a very ordinary town girl who doesn't know any more about cooking than a jack rabbit, and never held her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means, and has a gait like a duck. The groom is an up-to-date loafer. He has been living off the old folks all his life, and is not worth shucks. It will be a hard life.

"Our congressman, a very ordinary man, and who was elected by accident, was here yesterday. He has very few friends here now. He promised some of the voters in this township a piece of pie in the event of his election, but had forgotten all about it when the time came to hand over the little office."

JASPER NATIONAL PARK

Of the great Canadian Parks, Jasper National Park, which has an area of 4,400 square miles, is without a peer. Jasper Park Lodge, rustic in all its appointments, yet with every modern convenience for the comfort of tourists, has been established by the Canadian National Railways in this paradise of the Canadian Rockies. To house travellers who respond to the compelling lure of the mountains. Motor roads and trails for saddle or pack horses, reach out in every direction, making accessible this mountain fastness, where bird and animal life is unmolested and everything is as nature planned it, and which until a few years ago had known no other sound than the soft voices of nature. Horseback riding through this vast amphitheatre of mountains is the most popular pastime, while hiking, boating and canoeing, as well as dancing, tennis, quilts and other summer sports occupy every minute of the day if so desired. Jasper National Park belongs to the Canadian people. To enjoy anything is to know it. Before travelling to foreign parts, Canadians should get acquainted with the supreme scenic areas of their own country.

The destruction of a forest is a direct loss to the public. A spark from a passing train, or the dropping of a lighted match may cause the loss of timber worth millions of dollars. The public is thus deprived of lumber for building or construction purposes. It takes from seventy-five to a hundred years or more, for trees in a forest to grow to maturity.

THOSE MOVIE SALARIES

Motion pictures theatre managers who have been paying from $300 to $200 for a week's use of first run feature films and going bankrupt on it will be interested to learn something about the big movie star salaries that have been used as an excuse to keep prices up, remarks the Vancouver Sun. The investigation in New York of one company as a trust brings out the fact that when a movie star received a certain price for making one or more pictures that star was supposed to pay all the costs of manufacture out of that price. Thus when Charlie Chaplin contracted to deliver eight pictures for $1,000,000, the $1,000,000 was not clear profit. Charlie had to bear all the costs of sets, lighting, staff salaries, film negatives, travelling expenses, scenery and photography. The real factor in the industry that keeps prices up for the public and keeps theatre owners poor, is the profiteer somewhere in the middle who is yet to be searched out and eliminated.

We overheard a person remark the other day that some of the things heard over the telephone wire were not fit to hear. She should remember that one can hardly expect to tamper with electricity without getting shocked.

Heed The Small Things

In these latter days people have become so used to hearing of and talking about millions, especially millions and hundreds, even thousands of millions of national debts, that seldom or ever is the old childhood rhyme of a generation ago heard—"little drops of water, little grains of sand, make the mighty ocean and the beautiful land." And it is a thousand pities that this is so, and it indicates a development of a disregard, even a contempt, for little things; a tendency of the present-day generation which is responsible for much of the extravagance and waste so noticeable in this country in comparison with other lands where for many centuries the people have been taught to live frugally and give heed to the small things.

For months past the newspaper press of the country has been filled with discussions in Parliament, Legislatures, farmers' conventions, and the editorial columns, of the great subject of wheat marketing and the pros and cons of the advisability of a Wheat Board. It is a big subject, involving hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat, hundreds of millions of dollars, tens of thousands of individual farmers, and all the ramifications of the grain trade, grain exchanges, flour milling industry, rail, lake and ocean shipping. Important as this large problem is, the regrettable fact is that the attention of the individual, as well as of the public at large, has become so centred upon it in the effort to achieve a big gain that the many small avenues of profit, and ways of stopping numerous small losses, which in the aggregate are after all so very big, are lost sight of and all but ignored.

The attention of the writer was drawn the other day to a statement by a Saskatchewan Government official to the fact that fifteen carloads of potatoes bought by Saskatchewan wholesale houses in April, only two were shipped from Saskatchewan points, the remainder being imported from other Provinces, while at the same time there was a surplus of potatoes in the hands of Saskatchewan farmers not being marketed. Why? Why did Saskatchewan wholesalers import potatoes for consumption in Saskatchewan, paying heavier freights on the longer haul instead of buying the home grown product? Because so many Saskatchewan growers are careless of the little things and thus lose their own market. Poor grading of potatoes, diseased potatoes, dirt, improperly bagged, some bags containing 100 pounds, some 50 pounds, are among the reasons given why wholesalers import instead of buying at home. Little things in themselves, but which are costing Saskatchewan farmers heavy loss, and imposing on Saskatchewan consumers an unnecessary expense.

In the same issue of the newspaper in which the above statement appeared was a post office report to the effect that over sixteen million incorrectly or insufficiently addressed pieces of mail matter are handled by the post offices of Canada in a year, and no less than 90 per cent. is due to carelessness on the part of the sender. Apart from the loss thus sustained by the sender and the receiver, this carelessness adds enormously to the expense of the postal service, thus operating to keep up postage rates and increase taxes on the postal carrier. The loss of an individual act of carelessness is but a "little" matter, although the total runs into those millions of which we love to talk about these days.

The neglect to look after the growth of weeds on an individual farm may likewise seem a little matter, but one or two neglected quarter sections may adversely affect a whole township, and reduce the yield of wheat per acre throughout the entire area. The loss of a bushel an acre at one dollar per bushel means a loss for the township of over $20,000. After all, is this a little matter? In the aggregate, could not more be saved our farmers by successfully fighting the weed pest than can be made for them by any Wheat Board?

A smoker carelessly throws away a match or a cigarette stub and starts a prairie or forest fire, and hundreds of thousands, sometimes millions of dollars worth of property is destroyed, yet the original act was such a little, commonplace occurrence! A child is allowed to play with matches, and the home is destroyed! A man or boy carelessly handles a gun—he didn't know it was loaded—and a life is taken or a person blinded or maimed for life!

Who dares say these are little things after all? Yet it is just these little things which are causing the loss of millions of dollars of valuable forests in Canada every year, and the loss of much more valuable human lives. Canada's fire loss is rated as the heaviest per capita in the whole world. We are paying for it now, and posterity will be called upon to pay an even heavier price. And the pity, the crime of it is that nearly all of this loss is preventable and most of it due to carelessness, to our criminal disregard and contempt for so-called little things.

Astronomer Discovers New Star
Dr. D. W. Morehouse, acting president of Drake University and an astronomer of wide reputation, has announced the discovery of a new star. Technically the star is known as B. D. Phig 31 dec. 560. Dr. Morehouse first exposed a photographic plate on April 11 and the hitherto inconspicuous star was registered. Since that time it has been developing nebulousity about which is said to be a rare astronomical phenomenon.

Anglo-American Accord

Relations Between the Two English Speaking Nations Were Never Better

The Sulgrave Institution of the United States reports that relations are "distinctly" less "friendly." That may or may not be true. So far as fundamental interests go, the relations between the two countries were never better, and for a century they have been better than those of any two other great powers, which rub elbows. The best evidence of how mutually good they have been is that whenever relations have been tested by really serious disputes the matter has naturally been intrusted to some form of arbitration. Between the two peoples it can truly be said that war has been morally outlawed.

It is therefore not necessary, and probably not useful to sit up nights taking the temperature and pulse of Anglo-American relations. Moods of irritation are bound to come and go, and some professional agitators and breakers have an unhappy facility of accentuating as much unfriendliness as they cure. Neither the British nor the American people is given to fatality and unaction. They naturally distrust and dislike them. And when they read soberly and dispassionately about international relations being deeply affected by moving pictures of American home life they grow very weary at fussy Fanny and middle-some Matties.—The N.Y. World.

New Aerial Pullman

Will Have Accommodation for Day and Night Travel

Plans for an aerial pullman are being examined by British aircraft authorities. A great, slim, metal saloon, like a long, tapering pullman car, is the basis of the idea. Covered with smooth, gleaming sheets of a feather-weight metal alloy, this great air coach will be designed to rest on a long framework which will have wheels like a railway coach.

The convenience which will have day and night accommodation, will run on ordinary railway tracks and will be backed into a railway station to receive its passengers. When they are aboard an engine will take it to an aerodrome outside a city where it will be brought to a halt in the centre of an intricate framework of widespread wings and machinery. The coach, shedding its rail wheels, will then slide into a position above powerful pneumatically operated channels, to which it will be lowered in a few minutes a railway car will be transformed into an aeroplane.

What No One Knows

Professor Dunlap, of the Department of Experimental Psychology at Johns Hopkins, has started something. On being asked what the psychology is of the men and women who take part in endurance dancing contests, he asks in return: "Why do fat men take part in races at all? Why do people hold their heads out of the air in amateur theatricals or college athletics?" Well, now, it begins to look as if psychology were going to be really interesting.—Providence Journal.

To Build More Elevators

Millions to be Spent This Year on Construction

Optimists of the future of the west and crop conditions for the year of 1923, elevator companies of the three prairie provinces are constructing 500 or more country elevators this spring and summer. This will entail an expenditure of nearly two and a quarter million dollars, with a million dollars being spent for lumber alone. Construction companies and lumber men of Winnipeg having orders already in hand expect to start work in the immediate future. In the neighborhood of six million dollars will be expended at the head of the lakes this year in construction of new terminal elevators and enlargements to old.

One lumber man states that there will be as many as 248 country elevators built during the year on the prairies, at an approximate cost of $2,785,000. The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company will build 25 new elevators. They now operate 350.

"YOUR TEETH"

DO IT NOW

27 Res. Proctor, McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is very encouraging to think that it is never too late to mend, but when mending is postponed too long there is so much damage done that there is nothing left but the repair.

The best way to avoid damage is to take care in the first place. If a child is taught to take care of his baby teeth from infancy, those teeth will do their work and give comfort, health and beauty.

"The teeth, the gums, the tongue and the cheeks of every child should be brushed thoroughly twice each day.

Every child should have its own brush and a can of good tooth powder or a tube of tooth paste.

The brush must be kept very clean. When the teeth are to be washed, the brush should be wet in running water and the paste or powder placed on the brush.

Then the chewing surface of the teeth should be thoroughly brushed, both above and below.

Wet the brush again and brush thoroughly the lingual or tongue side of the teeth.

First, scrub them well with a circular movement, then place the brush at the gum margin on each tooth in turn and brush straight to the chewing surface, paying particular attention to cleaning the spaces between the teeth.

Repeat this on the labial, or outside, surface of the teeth, using plenty of water and denture.

After these movements have been completed, brush the inside of the cheeks and lips, then the gums and finally the tongue.

Rinse the mouth with clean water or a mild mouthwash, then wash the tooth brush and hang it up to dry until it is time for the next "tooth bath."

Don't put two or more tooth brushes in one container.

Hang up every brush by itself so that it will not be touched by any other.

Medicated dentifrices should not be used by children. What they need is just brushing with clean water and a mild, pleasant tooth paste or powder.

Saskatchewan Rural Phones

About Five Hundred Miles of New Lines to be Added to System This Year

About five hundred miles of new lines will be added to the rural telephone system of Saskatchewan when the programme of construction for the present year has been completed and about five hundred new subscribers will be receiving the benefits of telephonic communication by the end of 1923.

The programme for the year consists principally of extensions to existing rural telephone systems, about forty applications for extensions having been received by the Department of Telephones and Postmatters. Permission has been granted for the formation of two new companies and the re-organization of an old company.

The comparatively small demand for new rural telephone construction this season is partially due to the fact that the province as a whole is now fairly well served and there are not large gaps to be found in the rural telephone map of Saskatchewan. The fact that the farmers are busy paying for the lines at present in operation detracts them from adding to their facilities by further construction.

Captured By Aerial Police

French "Plane Hold Smugglers Until Customs' Officials Arrived

An exciting chase by airplane of a motor car laden with gold that was being smuggled out of France, took place on the road between Damascus and Baghdad. The airplane, fitted with a machine gun, took the air fifteen minutes after it was worded that the car was making for Baghdad. Shots were fired wide as a warning. The occupants stopped the car and fled to the shelter of some rocks where they were held by the snatching "plane" until police and customs' officials arrived.

NOT SICK ONCE IN FOUR YEARS NOW

Mrs. Smith Declares Health Has Been Perfect Since Tanlac's Endorsed Stomach Trouble

"For ten years hardly a day passed that I didn't suffer from stomach trouble, but I took Tanlac four years ago and haven't had a sick day since." Is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Thamar Smith, 55 McGee St., Toronto, Ont.

"The little I managed to eat simply tortured me with pains in the pit of my stomach, and gas passed around my heart causing it to skip beats until I thought it would stop all together. I was as nervous as a witch, and lost so much sleep that I was dark and swollen under my eyes. I was so weak and run down I could hardly walk a block or do my housework, and was almost in despair.

"Tanalac certainly was a God-send in restoring me to my perfect health, and I think it's the greatest medicine ever made. Nearly everybody else on McGee Street seems to have used the 'treatment,' and are praising it too."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Occupation Of Ruhr Has Not Proved Profitable To France

Paris.—The military occupation of the Ruhr by French troops is not necessary to the security of France, Premier Poincaré informed the members of the Finance and Foreign Affairs Commissions in the French Chamber. The occupation of the Ruhr, he added, is essentially an operation designed to coerce Germany into paying reparations. He reiterated that the Ruhr would be gradually evacuated in proportion to the payment of German reparations. The occupation of the left bank of the Rhine was considered by the Government as sufficient military security.

Incidentally, M. Poincaré, in reviewing the four months' occupation and asking the commissions to approve credits for continuance of the operation, stated that the receipts from the Ruhr since January 11 had covered the strictly military expenses which the occupation entailed.

The Premier pointed out that effective coal and coke transportation out of the Ruhr began only on March 15 last. France is prepared to prolong the occupation as long as useful to obtain results. While the operation had not yet proved remunerative, it has at least covered the military expenses, and would make coercion easier and more effective. The Premier declared that the French Government was resolved to insist upon the final reparations figures as fixed by the London accord, and that before it would agree to a reduction of the German debt, an equal amount must be eliminated from the inter-allied debt, as compensation.

Moscow Appeals To Workmen Of World

Internationalists Says Vorovsky's Death Must Not Go Unchallenged

Moscow.—The Third Internationale has issued a general appeal to the workmen of the world in connection with the assassination of M. Vorovsky, the Soviet representative at Lausanne, in which it says: "This bloody challenge must not be left unanswered by you."

The appeal advises stronger organization of the struggle to bring about revolutionary success east and west. It holds Lord Curzon, the British foreign Secretary, responsible as the chief inspiration of the Entente effort at Lausanne to prevent a Russo-Turkish rapprochement, and adds with reference to the recent British note: "Curzon demands that we shall not support the movement for liberty in India and Egypt, but such propaganda by action as the shooting of Vorovsky, has done more for the east than it would be possible for the Third Internationale to do."

Object Of Government To Reduce Tariff By Gradual Process

ed Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, during further debate on the budget in the House, "and I have had nothing to convince me that so heavy a rate of protection is required as is given to many of the industries in this country today."

But there were peculiar conditions existent in Canada today, Mr. Stewart went on—pressing conditions, not only in regard to agriculture, but in regard to business. Much as he would desire tariff reductions that would mean something considerable in the cost of living, "it is not my desire, nor is it the desire of the Government, at this moment to jeopardize any of these industries while they are passing through such a trying period as they are today."

It was said that other countries generally were increasing their tariffs. That made it incumbent on those charged with the responsibility of government to go slowly in the matter of reduction.

"I want to say this," Mr. Stewart further declared, "we are going in that direction though our Progressive friends may think our progress slow."

J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York), referring to the new reciprocity offer, urged that the Canadian people did not wish to be beggars waiting for "crumbs to drop from the

Farm Help In Demand

Active Demand for Labor During Month of April

Ottawa.—There was an active demand for farm labor during April in Quebec, Ontario and the prairie provinces, according to the Department of Labor. Conditions in the building and construction industries showed improvement, except in the Maritime Provinces and Manitoba. There was a slightly increased demand for loggers in British Columbia. The manufacturing group showed slight gains in employment, especially in the metal trades and textiles.

BOGUS GUN FOOLS OFFICIALS

PRISONER MAKES ESCAPE FROM COURT ROOM AT NORTH BAY

North Bay, Ont.—Waving a revolver and crying "Hands up!" Leo Rogers, 21, former convict at Keweenaw penitentiary set North Bay abuzz with excitement by one of the most sensational escape from custody in local history. The escape was made just as the District Court was about to open from a court room partially filled open with spectators. Reaching the street, Rogers halted a car and, threatening the driver, forced him to give him a lift. The desperado later leaped from the car and disappeared in the direction of Trout Lake.

He left his "revolver" in the car. It was a peculiarly well constructed article in imitation of a gun, consisting of a handle of cardboard covered with black paper, a piece of steel tubing inside a wooden barrel and an imitation trigger.

Chinese Incited to Rebellion

Officials Think Inflammatory Notices Work of Responsible Persons

Tien Tsin, China.—Inflammatory circulars calling on the people to rise up against foreigners have been disseminated in a number of nearby Chinese villages and in the native city here. The circulars allege that a foreign committee whose names and occupations are given, is planning to turn the former German concession here over to the British. The German territory or settlement reverted to China upon the declaration of war against the Central Powers. Since then it has been badly administered by the Chinese, foreigners assert. The circulating of the natives is regarded seriously, as it is not believed the circulars were concocted by irresponsible persons.

Death Of U.S. Financier

George J. Gould, Multi-Millionaire, Passes Away At His Villa In France

Menton, France.—George J. Gould, the United States financier, who has been ill at Cap Martin, near here, for some time, died May 18.

Mr. Gould was stricken with pneumonia at his villa on March 20. For several days his condition remained critical but he then rallied and on April 3 was said to be out of danger. Three weeks later, however, he suffered a relapse and on May 2 took a turn for the worse.

The end came peacefully. Mr. Gould's wife and two children were at his bedside.

UNITY OF MANKIND

LEAD ROBERT CECIL SPEAKS OF IMPRESSION GAINED IN U.S.

London.—Lord Robert Cecil, recently returned from Canada and the United States, said at a luncheon here in his honor, organized by the League of Nations supporters, that the United States doubted whether Europe was really sincere in its desire for peace.

There was a growing recognition in the United States, said Lord Robert, of the unity of mankind—economically, materially, morally and spiritually.

"The American people," he continued, "recognize that what happens to any part of the world must have a repercussion and effect in the United States as in other parts of the world and they are trying to see what modifications of their foreign policy ought to be made to meet the situation."

The presence of the United States in Germany and Russia in the League was desirable, in order that they might contribute their voices to the great chorus of public opinion for the maintenance of peace throughout the world, he said, but he did not believe Great Britain should invite the United States to join the League.

Interpreters At Suffrage League

Various Languages Being Used at Conference in Rome.

Rome.—A number of resolutions have been discussed by the congress of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance at its session.

One resolution demanded that women should be entitled, on marrying foreigners, to choose their nationality. The conference adopted the Italian language as an official language, the same as English and French.

The women delegates are speaking in all the various tongues of the world during the sessions, and interpreters are translating their addresses into the three official languages.

Motion For Banks To Have Power To Take Mortgages

BANDITS MAKE ANOTHER HAUL

ROB BANK OF TORONTO AT MATHER, MAN., AND SECURE $3,000

Winnipeg.—Border bank bandits, described as "gentlemanly fellows," Thursday morning visited the little village of Mather, Man., held up the Bank of Toronto at gunpoint, bound the teller, blew open the safe, and departed noiselessly with their loot. This, the first raid of the season in Manitoba, netted $3,000 in cash and $200 in negotiable securities.

The robbery was carried out at 2:45 a.m., and except for the noise of the safe-blowing, was executed in absolute silence. No one but the teller, who was bound with his own neckties, saw the raiders appear; no one saw them leave. The teller, C. A. Morde, heard no sound to indicate that they had come either by car or by airplane. "They folded their tents like the Arabs" and silently stole everything in sight.

During the raid, which occupied only 20 minutes, other villages slept undisturbed until roused by the teller. Morde had been left with his hand and foot and covered up in his bed, but was able to free himself without assistance when the robbers had gone.

It is presumed that the raiders used an automobile and the police are certain that they came from across the border.

Winter Conditions In Labrador

Navigation Will Hardly Open Before Middle of June

St. Johns, Nfld.—The worst conditions ever known in Labrador leave that coast still in the grip of King Winter with a sixty-mile wide ice barrier cutting off the snow-bound land from the sea. Aviators of the Aerial Survey Company of Newfoundland, who recently returned from Labrador reported they found the new gold claims in that country covered with snow many feet deep and there seems to be little likelihood of prospectors reaching Labrador by sea before the middle of June.

At Cartwright, Labrador, the houses are completely covered by a field of snow with only the chimneys showing. The schoolmaster there who was imprisoned in his house for two days, was finally rescued when snowshoers were attracted by the noise of tapping on the iron chimney of his house.

Rumors Of Possible Hostilities Between Greece And Turkey

London.—Sensational rumors are current of possible hostilities between Greece and Turkey as the outcome of the reparations dispute at Lausanne, and, according to a Central News dispatch from Constantinople, a secret meeting is reported to have been held at British general headquarters to consider eventualities. No confirmation of this rumor, however, is obtainable in official circles here.

Reuter's Athens correspondent says the newspapers there stated that the Greek delegation has been instructed to leave Lausanne should a plenary meeting of the Near East conference pronounce in favor of payment of indemnities by Greece.

According to the Athens correspondent of the Times, referring to these rumors, Col. Pasteris, one of the leading officers, in the course of an interview, voiced a denial, saying that Greece's intentions were entirely pacific. He added that Greece would take no precipitate action without consulting the allies, but was absolutely determined not to pay a single penny of indemnity.

THE TATTLER

In an old, old volume, printed more than one hundred years ago, we came across the following "recipe to make a tattler."

"Take of the vine called Runabout, and the root of Nimble Tongue, of each six handfuls, fifteen ounces of Ambition, the same quantity of Non-sense; bruise them well together in the mortar of Misapprehension, then boil them over the fire of Surmise, till you perceive the steam of falsity rising on top; strain it through the cloth of Misconstruction, put it into the bottle of Malignity, and stop it with a cork of Envy; suck a draught through the gull of Malvolence—and you will be prepared to speak—al manner of evil, without respect to persons or character."

In the brewing of scandal and gossip we seem to still work by the old recipe of a century ago.

Alberta's "reform" government is responsible for the legalizing in this province of slot machines that are serving a purpose in teaching the boyhood and girlhood first lessons in the art of gambling. Some of such machines are located in our restaurants and some of them were allowed to operate on Sunday last, probably in contravention of the Lord's Day Act. They are operating from morning till night, paying a splendid dividend to the proprietor of the premises, and scores of boys and girls are gathering up nickels by all means and trying their luck. Some are even obliged to steal the nickels in order to learn the gamble. Here is a curse far greater than the liquor traffic could ever be, for it leads up to gambling and drinking and practically all other forms of vice imaginable. Many nickels intended for the Sunday school collection plate found their way into the slot machines on Sunday last.
